WEDNESDAY, 25 JUNE – Centre for the Promotion of Knowledge and Language Learning (PPIB) today disposed of about 397 electrical and electronic wastes (e-Waste).

The materials were damaged computer equipment such as printers, monitors, mouse and some other equipment.

The disposal was delivered to the Recycle Community Malaysia (RCOMM), which is a non-governmental Organisation (NGO) that manages the disposal of e-waste.

The handing over was done by the Deputy Dean (Research and Innovation) of PPIB, Dr. Jeannet Stephen.

When asked, she told reporters that the disposal was at no charge by the NGO.

She said the e-waste campaign also received support from the Ministry of Tourism, Culture and Environment Sabah, Datuk Seri Panglima Masidi Manjun. – SS (fl)
