

Effects of river width on sleeping-site selection by proboscis monkeys
(Nasalis larvatus) in Sabah, Malaysia

Abstract

Previous studies have suggested that Proboscis monkeys sleep in trees located by riverbanks and cross rivers at their narrower points effectively avoid land-based and aquatic-based predators.