

Symplocos zizyphoides

ABSTRACT

em style="color: rgb(14, 16, 26); background-image: initial; background-position: initial; backgroundsize: initial; background-repeat: initial; background-attachment: initial; background-origin: initial; background-clip: initial; margin-top: 0pt; margin-bottom: 0pt;">Symplocos zizyphoides is a treelet, endemic to Sabah. The estimated area of occupancy (AOO) and extent of occurrence (EOO) are both 32 km<sup>2</sup>. There is no major threat as the species is recorded abundantly in Mount Kinabalu. It is assessed as Least Concern. Symplocos zizyphoides is endemic to Sabah, Malaysia. It is known from Mount Kinabalu, Ranau.